Cooke Case In Chicago Brings Out Interesting Questions As To Rights Of Court.

SEEKING PERMANENT INJUNCTION

Would Prohibit Judge Of Minor Court From Granting Writ Of Habeas Corpus In Cases Already Reviewed By That Tribunal.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Springfield, Ill., Feb. 7.—The Illinois supreme court today decided to consider the new extension of the writ of injunction. Upon motion of State's Attorney Henry the Chicago court consented to take the preliminary steps in the application for an injunction to restrain Judge McFadden of Chicago from hearing arguments for the discharge of a prisoner in habeas corpus proceedings. The case is one indirectly brought on that of John A. Cooke, the Chicago politician who was convicted of embezzlement and is now in the penitentiary. It is the hope of the prosecution that the supreme court will issue a permanent injunction against McFadden and in doing so make broad declaration that no lower court has the power of habeas corpus regarding a prisoner whose case has been reviewed by the supreme court.

DUCHESS PLANS TO LAUNCH A PAPER

Goes to New York to Talk Over Starting a Newspaper for the People in London.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New York, Feb. 7.—An interesting story is going the rounds in relation to the visit of the Duchess of Sutherland, who reached New York yesterday a few weeks ago and managed to remain in the city some days before her presence became publicly known. It is reported that the purpose of the Duchess in coming to this city was to discuss a project to launch a newspaper for the people in London in partnership with the million-aire publisher of newspapers in New York and other cities whose wealth and political activities have made his name familiar to all.

Just why the American publisher should desire to start a newspaper in the interest of the poor suffering English proletariat is not stated, but the story is no less interesting because of this omission. The prospective journalistic alliance of a Yankee millionaire and an English peeress is sufficient in itself to create interest and the story seems to have attracted attention in London as well as in this city.

The Duchess of Sutherland is a remarkable woman in many respects. She has the pen of a ready writer, publishes books, has written a play for Edward Burymores and has been a frequent contributor to the magazine. She is fond of literature and literary people, has a head for business and is a first-class organizer.

Her first literary work was a description of her honeymoon "trip" around the world, and she called it "How I Spent My Twentieth Year." It became fashionably popular and was much praised on account of its refreshing simplicity. In 1882 she published a novel entitled "One Hour and the Next," a psychological work, which attracted much praise and criticism from the English literary journals. It was a story treating with the melancholy side of working class life, and it then became known for the first time that the Duchess spent much of her time among the poorer classes of her country studying their conditions and constantly performing acts of charity.

HACK DRIVERS IN FISTIC ENCOUNTER

Large Crowd Witnessed Combat Between Tom Goodman and George Worley at Depot This Noon.

As the result of a wordy quarrel over the rights of respective hack lines to the stands near the depot platform at 10:20 this morning and the alleged attempt of George Worley, driving for Alex. Russell & Son, to forcibly dislodge the Goodman vehicle from the place of vantage, the two youths climbed down the boxes and started fighting when they returned at 11:45. This preliminary conflict was brief, but it was renewed with vigor when the two again came together about 12:40. A crowd of perhaps 300 people gathered about the scene of the fray and despite the efforts of an old lady and others to separate the combatants, they kept the battle going for about 15 minutes. They were about equally matched in size and both were stripped down to their undershirts and wore dripping from their faces and hands to flange the snow with carmine. An Officer Patrick Fanning appeared on the scene both principals fled—Worley taking refuge in the Railroad hotel. He was soon captured, and he and Goodman were arraigned in municipal court this afternoon on the charge of disturbing the peace. Worley claimed justification, but pleaded guilty and paid a fine and costs of $5.55. Goodman claimed self defense, claiming that Worley tried to run his pole into the Goodman vehicle, and entered a plea of not guilty. The case was set for Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock.

ADMITS J. A. RUNDY WILL TO PROBATE

Judge Carpenter of Milwaukee Declines Against Contest Made by Two Nephews.

By the decision of Judge Carpenter of Milwaukee the Baptist church of this state and Wayland Academy will get about one hundred and fifty thousand dollars. This will, which was drawn before Mrs. Bundy died had been changed after her death to the extent that the papers referring to her had been cut out. Two nephews contested the will, claiming that it had been so mutilated as to render it void. Judge Carpenter, however, decided against this and has admitted the will to probate.

Wayland Academy at Beaver Dam, which has been attended by a number of the young people from Janesville will be materially benefited by this decision, being given a large amount of money in the will.

BUSINESS METHODS IN DAIRYING

From the standpoint of the dairyman the dairy cow, or the producer, is one of the most important factors in the business. Though there are millions of dairy cows in the country, so few exact accounts are kept with each individual that little is actually known regarding the profits or losses being derived from them. Manufacturers or merchants are so exact in their accounting that they can determine, at any time, the profits or losses of their business as a whole, or any part of it, even to a fraction of a cent. Success in business demands that a looking proposition be either dropped at once, or reorganized on a paying basis. The same is not true of the dairyman. Some know in a general way, at the end of each year, whether the herd has made a profit or loss, and approximately the amount of the same, but the dairymen are extremely rare in which records of the individual animals in the herd are secured.

Individual records of the animals in a dairy herd are very essential. Some individuals may be paying a handsome profit and others actually losing money for the owners; exact determinations as to which ones these are cannot be made by casual observation. It is necessary to know, in pounds, how much milk a cow produces during each period of lactation, and the amount of butter fat contained therein. It is also essential to know how much food she consumes and the cost of the same. These needs are already illustrated by the records of two grade dairy cows in the Michigan agricultural college dairy herd.

reported in bulletin 228. These two cows were almost identical, as regards general form, differing only slightly in color markings. Both had just been purchased before the beginning of the year's test and as a result their past records were not available.

The profitable cow, number 1, in 12 months produced 7697 pounds of milk, making 432 pounds of butter; the total value of this cow's products, figuring butter at 20 cents per pound, and skim milk at 20 cents per hundredweight, was $115.50. As the total cost of the food consumed by this cow during the year was $38.52, there was left a net profit over cost of food (not including labor) amounting to $76.98. The unprofitable cow, number 2, produced 1205 pounds of milk, making 30 pounds of butter; the value of her products was $11.50. As the food consumed by No. 2 during the year cost $21.17, her account shows a net loss of $9.58. Of course this cow is a somewhat extreme one and if the facts could have been known some unusual circumstances in the history of No. 2 would account for her low production, but as such information is generally concealed at the time of sale, the purchaser had no protection. In this extreme case no one could help but see that one of these cows was a loser, even without a record; but the exact amount of the loss could not have been determined otherwise. The smaller the losses or profits are, the more difficult it is to determine them without individual records.

Of Course They Said So.

"How did you happen to come to me for your dentistry?" said Dr. Richards to a patient recently.

"Why, you see I'm a stranger here," said the party, "and I inquired of several people as to what dentist to go to and they all said 'Dr. Richards' it I wanted 'Painless' work."

"Of course, I didn't want to be hurt and so I came up to you," said the patient, "and you said 'Painless' work?"

"Not a bit. You never hurt me in the least."

It's worth something to have such a reputation for Painless Dentistry. If you need dentistry and wish perfect satisfaction try Dr. Richards. He "delivers the goods."

ANNOUNCED MISS MARCIA JACKMAN'S ENGAGEMENT TO PROFESSOR PYRE

Genuine Surprise Was in Store For Those Who Attended Mrs. J. G. Rexford's Luncheon—Some of the Numerous Social Events of the Week.

Announcement of the engagement of Miss Marcia Jackman to J. F. A. Pyre, professor of English literature at the University of Wisconsin, was made at the one o'clock luncheon given for twelve young ladies, including Miss Carl Fairchild of Madison, at the home of Mrs. John G. Rexford on Tuesday. It was a real surprise to nearly all of the company. The wedding, it is understood, will take place during the early summer, though not in June, and it will be an event of unusual interest in local and university society circles.

Entertained "Pray Do" Club
Miss Harriet Hotwell entertained the "Pray Do" club at bridge yesterday afternoon. Miss Jane Walker of Rockford, who is visiting here, was the guest of honor. Mrs. Edward Peterson will give a small company in Miss Walker's honor on Saturday.

Test for Philanthropic Society
Members of the Philanthropic society of the High school will be guests of Miss Grace Mount at a tea to be given at her home on Court street this evening. Sketches from Dickens have been dramatized and will be presented by those who belong to the organization.

"Two Table" Club
Mrs. John G. Rexford entertained the "Two Table" club at bridge yesterday afternoon. The prize was won by Mrs. George Parker.

Local Interest in "Junior Prom"
Kreft's Chicago orchestra will play for the "Junior Prom" at Madison on the night of Feb. 14. J. O. Falk, who expects to resume his course in the university during the latter part of the month, is one of the Janesville people who will attend. His dance partner is to be Miss Elizabeth Leroy, a sister of Assemblyman Edward Leroy of Marlinton.

Left for California
Mrs. James Mills, her son, Wallace Mills, and her father, James Chamberlain, departed last evening for Palo Alto, California, where the son will continue the course in mechanical engineering which he has been pursuing at Madison. Mrs. Mills and Mr. Chamberlain expect to spend the winter there for the benefit of their health.

BRING SUIT AGAINST THE BANK DIRECTORS

Former Janesville Men Among the Plaintiffs in the Suit Against Directors.

Frederick F. Norcross and John V. Norcross, sons of Philip Norcross, are among the plaintiffs in a suit which has been brought against the directors of the Jackson Trust Bank. It is alleged that the five directors of the bank conspired to defraud the plaintiff by the purchase of $212,333 worth of doubtful and worthless securities. It is also charged that in three cases the bank directors violated the law by making loans in excess of one-tenth of the paid capital stock and on insufficient security.

William D. Lawton, who at one time lived at Afton, is also mentioned as one of those who agreed to advance money to purchase the worthless securities from the bank. He, however, did not pay the money.

UNITED STATES SENATOR THOMAS COLLIER PLATT OF NEW YORK.

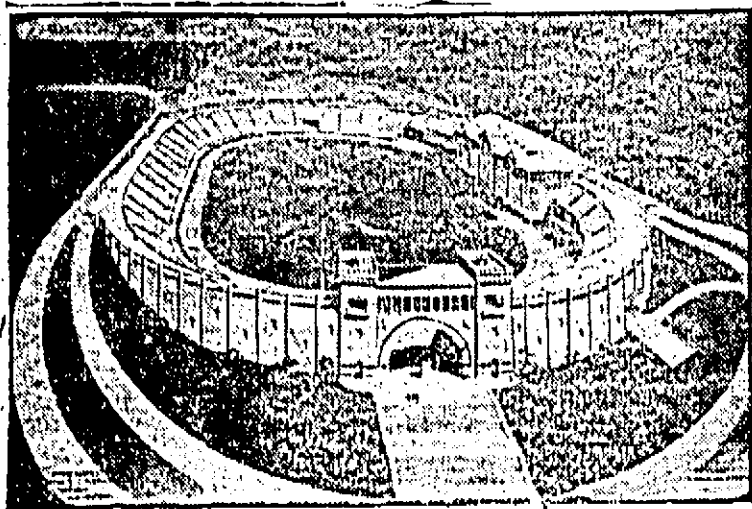

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—Senator Platt of New York has just paid his first visit to the White House since the assembling of congress. It was a brief and unimportant one, according to Mr. Platt's reports. It was, however, in the suggestion that it is the want of Senator Platt that President Roosevelt is talked of as occupying should be kept in the political arena by way of senate membership. The term of Senator Platt will expire a year from next March and it is his intention not to ask for another election. The legislature that will choose a successor to Platt will be chosen in November and the prospects of an election of President Roosevelt to the vacant place will depend upon happenings between now and then.

Senator Platt is one of the veteran republicans of the upper house. He is a New Yorker, born and bred, and is 75 years of age. He entered mercantile life soon after leaving school and has been in active business ever since. His present home is Oswego, N. Y., the city of his birth. He was president of the Tingo National bank at its organization. The foundation of his fortune was laid in the lumbering business in Michigan. He was elected to the 43d and 44th congresses as representative and was chosen United States senator for the first time January 18, 1881. He was chosen secretary and director of the United States Express company in 1879 and in 1880 was elected president of this great corporation.

PRINCE WILLIAM OF SWEDEN AND THE DUCHESS MARIE OF PAULOVNA.

The approaching marriage of Prince William of Sweden, second son of King Gustav, to Duchess Marie of Paulovna, daughter of the Grand Duke Paul, the Czar's youngest uncle, is anticipated to be anything but happy. The past records of international marriages between Sweden and Russia show about as unfortunate conditions as international marriages between the United States and Europe have proven. Only once in the history of the Romanoffs and Norse kings was such a union attempted and since it cost the life of the most glorious figure in Russia's history the forthcoming marriage is regarded with a good deal of misapprehension.

STADIUM AT SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY.

The Syracuse (N.Y.) university stadium is the only structure of its kind in the world. The arena furnishes sufficient room for all the athletic contests of the college and is considerably larger than the Harvard stadium, which has a seating capacity of about 20,000, the height of the ladder giving it the advantage in this respect. The Harvard stadium is built of structural steel. The Syracuse stadium, with the grandstand connected will cost about $500,000, and is built under the Kahn system of reinforced concrete, and has a seating capacity of 20,000. The concrete work was designed by the Truesdell Concrete Steel company of Detroit and constructed by the Consolidated Engineering and Construction company of Syracuse.

SPORTING NEWS

SKEE RACERS TO MEET

National Tournament Will Be Held in Duluth on Feb. 11-12.

GREAT INTEREST IN SPORT.

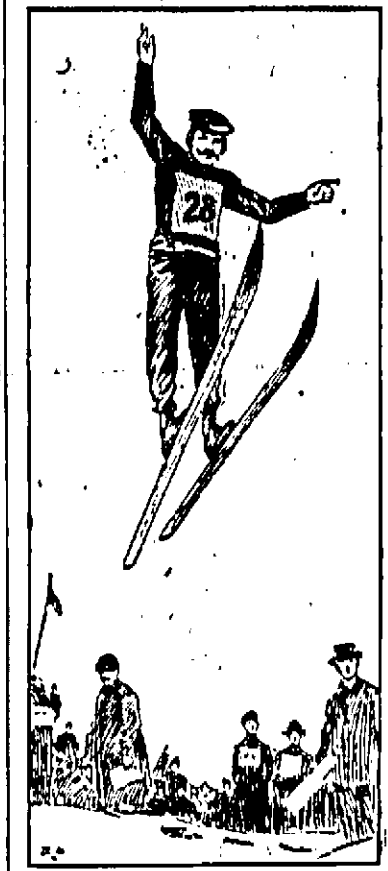

Many Americans Have Taken Up Norway's Exciting Pastime This Winter. Duluth's Fine Courses—How the Contestants Are Started.

Minnesota skee jumpers and those of other states are hard at work preparing for the national skee tournament which will be held in Duluth on Feb. 11 and 12. Skee jumping bids fair to become one of the most popular of winter recreations, and more persons have taken to the sport this season than ever before in the colder parts of the country. Ole Felling of Duluth is the American champion at this game, winning the title last year in his home town by a flying leap of 112 feet. The international record is held by Nels Gjesteang, who jumped 136 feet at the Gasta Medium run in Norway in 1902.

Skee jumping is a spectacular sport and calls for great daring. The man who competes in one of these contests must have great suppleness and an abundance of courage, for the sport is about as dangerous as high diving. The skees are about a yard long, slightly turned up in the front. They are made of wood and are fastened to the jumper's shoes and resemble the runners of a sled.

On the course at Chester hill, Duluth, the top of the incline is at an altitude of between 250 and 300 feet.

The starting place for the riders is a wooden structure built at the top of a long hill. Hundreds of loads of snow are dumped along the course to make the grade approximately uniform. The riders are started from a point on the slope thirty-three degrees from the horizontal and coast past a point where the slope increases slightly to the "jumping off place." There the mumentum is so great as to impel them forward in a slight, through midair, which is the feat of the performance. A perfect performance requires that they alight on their feet and maintain their balance while on the steepest part of the course. From there they must coast down to the level. The jumper's greatest difficulty is in keeping his balance after leaving the "jumping off place" and landing below.

Skees are set five feet apart for the benefit of judges of the contests. The distances covered by the jumpers are measured in a manner similar to those used on a football field. After each jump the snow on the course is raked, which keeps it loose, so that there is a downy bed for the jumper to fall into, even if he overcomes before alighting and comes down on his shoulders. To start the contestants a man is stationed at the "jump off" with a flag, with which he signals to a bugler at a certain point, indicating that the track below is clear. Signaling is necessary, because the rider at the top of the incline cannot see all of the course owing to the hump just above the stretch of greatest steepness.

New Swimming Record.

The latest Australian sporting papers to hand bring the news of a new swimming record for fifty yards. The performer was Aleck Wickham, the crack south sea islander, who is expected to do great things at all distances up to a furlong this year. At the Rimbenters' Bay baths he swam the half century in 24.35 seconds, and not only is this a record for Australia, but it is the top notch mark for all the world. The previous accepted record was 25 seconds. There is a report that Wickham will be in England for the Olympic games, where he expects to have a crack at the hundred yards and other distances.

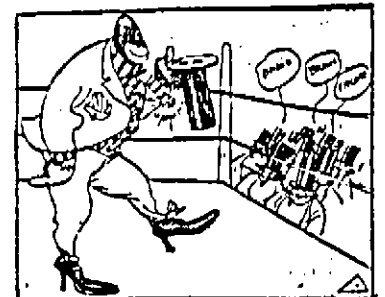

Noted Stallion's Great Record. Gambetta Wilkes is now credited with 200 standard performers—64 trotters and 192 pacers. Allen Carr, 2,000, formerly owned by J. Lowber Welsh of Philadelphia, is the only 2:10 trotter by the stallion.

THE ROUNDUP COLUMN.

West Touches on a Variety of Timely Sporting Topics.

I see by the papers that Samuel McVey, the colored heavyweight pugilist, late of Los Angeles, has made a hit with the Parisians. Samuel is three shades blacker than coal dust. When he strolls along the boulevard, people think a thunderstorm is coming and pull down the windows.

His dome of thought runs up to a point, and a perpendicular dropped from the apex would go to his heels.

without touching anything but the back of his neck. He has long arms, like a gorilla, and a smile that runs so far around his head that it shows as well from behind as from in front. No wonder Sammy is a hit.

Tommy Ryan is the watchdog of the himself, little. He is not using it himself, but he growls when anybody else looks at it.

Tommy Murphy was unable to fight Paddy McFarland because he injured his knee. While the surgeons were working over Tommy they should have taken a look at his heart.

As an esoteric proposition bowling simply consists of caricatures.

James J. Jeffries, the retired heavyweight champion, has been carving a reputation as a referee on the Pacific coast. He is honest and knows the game, and none of those over-excited zealots are likely to meet him as he climbs through the ropes and demands an immediate and honest account as to how he reached a given verdict. Referee Jeffries demands and receives $1,000 for acting as an arbiter among the pugilists. Much easier and better than fighting.

The technical name of the Swedish challenger for the American cup is the Kungliga Svenska Segbollskaftet. If they can't lift the cup with that, a derick is out of the question.

The baseball penitents are being claimed by nearly every club in the country. Good thing to get in a club early, for the wick will be all that's left later on.

A good story is going the rounds at the expense of John Flanagan, the hammer thrower. Recently John was going out of New York to compete at some athletic games. Following the usual custom of weight throwers, he carried along with him his own weight, a sixteen pound iron ball, with a thirty-six inch wire handle attached. On the way Flanagan met some friends, and they called in at a "cold tea house" to enjoy a couple of tall ones.

Being painfully modest, John decided to leave the hammer outside, so that the folks inside would not get wise to the fact that he was a great athlete. A few minutes later along came a party of Italians, discussing the topics of the day in their native tongue.

Suddenly from out of their midst came a fearful whoop, and the bunch scattered like wildfire. All made to get behind trees or into houses. One rushed into the cafe where John and his party were standing and shrieked at the top of his lungs:

"Bugga da bomb!" "Black Hand!" "Run fast!"

With that he disappeared out of the back door and was up the street in a jiffy.

Flanagan and his friends stood in breathless silence waiting for the roof of the building to be blown off, but as no explosion came one of the number took courage and peeped out of the door to see what had caused the Italians to stampede. There he saw the entrance had the cause of all the furor—Flanagan's sixteen pound hammer.

The men from sunny Italy had mistaken the iron ball for a bomb and the long wire handle for a fuse, so of course the laugh was on John.

Cup For Hockey Champions. There has been presented to the Amateur Hockey league of New York by Peter J. Fisher, Jr., and Cornelius Fellows, Jr., a magnificent silver challenge cup. The trophy was offered unconditionally and was accepted by the governing body. It is understood that the new cup is to take the same place in American hockey as does the Stanley cup in Canada. The Stanley cup is emblematic of the championship of the Dominion. The holders of the trophy may be challenged by the champion of any recognized hockey league under certain conditions. The deed of gift for the St. Nicholas cup, as the new trophy will probably be called, if it is, is expected that the champions of some of the other leagues in the country will come to New York this winter to try to win the trophy from the champion, seven of the Amateur Hockey league.

Noted Stallion's Great Record.

Gambetta Wilkes is now credited with 200 standard performers—64 trotters and 192 pacers. Allen Carr, 2,000, formerly owned by J. Lowber Welsh of Philadelphia, is the only 2:10 trotter by the stallion.

Dorothy Axworthy, 2:12 1/4. Cost $8,500. It is stated that George H. DeLorbrook of Denver paid $8,500 for Dorothy Axworthy, the filly that was second to Transfast in 2:12 1/4 at Lexington last fall.

CABLES TO MORSE TO RETURN HOME

COUNSEL FOR FINANCIER SENDS MESSAGE TO LIVERPOOL.

EXPECTS HIM TO COME

Action Is Taken at Request of Federal District Attorney, Who Declines to Explain His Motives.

New York, Feb. 7.—At the request of United States District Attorney Stimson Albert B. Boardman, counsel for Charles W. Morse, late Thursday cabled his client at Liverpool, asking that Morse return to this city. Mr. Boardman believes that the banker will take passage on the first steamer sailing west after the arrival at Queenstown or Liverpool of the Cunard line steamship Campania, upon which, his attorney says, Morse sailed from here last Saturday.

The Campania is due at Queenstown Friday and at Liverpool early Saturday. Allowing for heavy weather which is delaying all Atlantic traffic, the Campania can hardly fail to reach one of the two ports in time to allow Morse to sail on the Cunard Etruria, which will be the earliest steamer he can get. The Etruria is scheduled to leave Liverpool at 4:30 Saturday afternoon and sail from Queenstown between nine and eleven o'clock Sunday forenoon. She is due here late the following Saturday. It is hardly possible that she will arrive in time to dock before Sunday.

The attorney's cable, it is expected, will be recent by wireless to the Campania when the vessel is reported off Broadway, Ireland, 70 miles west of Queenstown.

Grand Jury Calls Boardman.

Attorney Boardman's action in cabling his client followed an hour's conference with Mr. Stimson, who was in charge of the investigation before the federal grand jury of the recent conduct of certain national banks. Mr. Boardman had been subpoenaed to appear before the grand jury Thursday, supposedly, he said, to tell what he knew of Morse's connection with certain banking institutions. The jury, however, did not reach Mr. Boardman's testimony and sent word for him to return Friday. In the meantime Mr. Boardman had been cloistered with the federal district attorney.

As he left the federal building Mr. Boardman was asked whether he had said that he could produce Morse should that gentleman be wanted. "No," he replied, "but at the request of United States District Attorney Stimson I have cabled Mr. Morse at Liverpool to come back, and I have reason to believe that he will return at once. He is now on the Campania."

Stimson's Reason Not Known.

Asked why Mr. Stimson had requested him to ask Morse to return Mr. Boardman said:

"I do not know, but I suppose it is because a good many people here want him."

Mr. Stimson would say nothing as to why he desired the presence here of the man who, after he had organized the American life company and the Consolidated Steamship company and was reported to be worth $20,000,000, became disastrously involved in the misfortunes of the banks which he had been able to control.

Disclosures of the troubles of Morse followed each other in rapid succession. One of these was to the effect that the creditor banks might unite in making him an involuntary bankrupt, thereby absorbing the remnants of his fortune.

Frightened to Death by Live Wire. Washington, Pa., Feb. 7.—William Smith, a Hazlet, Pa. coal miner, was frightened to death Thursday by a live wire. As he was about to step into the mine entry he came in contact with a lightly charged electric wire and dropped dead. An examination showed the wire did not carry sufficient voltage to even stun a man.

Cleveland Has $100,000 Fire.

Cleveland, O., Feb. 7.—Fire of unknown origin burned the five-story Chandler building on Huron road and destroyed the plant of the Cleveland Bakers' and Confectioners' Supply company and the stock of the J. M. Bour company, wholesale coffee dealers, Thursday night. Estimated loss, $100,000.

WHAT IS YOUR OPINION?

The Gazette wants the opinion of the ladies on the following question:

WHO PAYS FOR THE ADVERTISING?

We will award three prizes for the best opinions

PRIZES TO LADIES ONLY

1st prize - $3.00
2nd prize - 2.00
3rd prize - 1.00

All opinions must be sent to this office by 6:00 p. m. Monday, Feb. 10. They must be written in 200 words or less, and on one side of the paper only. Sign the opinion with a fictitious name and enclose your true name on a separate piece of paper.

Remember, the question is: WHO PAYS FOR THE ADVERTISING? This refers only to advertising in THE GAZETTE. To give an example of meritorious advertising and its results, let us take two merchants, one an advertiser and the other a non-advertiser.

THE NON-ADVERTISER, let us suppose, spends $75 each month for rent, $200 each month for salaries, and $75 a month for light, heat, and incidentals, amounting to $4,200 as his total expense for one year. From this total expense he has been able to sell enough goods to make him a GROSS profit of $7,000, from which he deducts his expense $4,200, leaving him $2,800 for his remuneration and interest on his investment.

THE ADVERTISER sells the same goods at the same prices. His rent is the same as the non-advertiser, his salaries the same, his incidental expense is the same, but he adds on to this $50 a month for advertising which brings his total expense to $4,800. He finds, however, that the $50 each month for advertising has enabled him to increase his sales in the year, and that his gross profits are $8,000; from which he deducts the total expense of $4,800, leaving him $3,200 for remuneration and interest.

Now, the question, who pays the $50 each month for this advertising? The advertiser surely is ahead because his net profits are $3,200, while the non-advertiser only made $2,800. The consumer buys the same goods at the same prices, so they do not pay it.

WHO PAYS FOR THE ADVERTISING?

What is your opinion? Let us have it today.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Gazette, Feb. 7, 1868.—Front Page Post. Deep.—Workmen employed in digging a well on the premises of Mr. R. T. Pender have just worked their way through the frozen ground, and find the frost has made the earth solid to a distance of five feet below the surface.

A Pugilistic Discussion.—Patrick McEwen and Thomas Lerner got into a foreboding discussion over a glass of lager yesterday and Patrick took a striking attitude. Thomas didn't like it, and complained of him. The case had a hearing before Justice Hudson today, and the sportive Patrick was fined $10 and costs.

The Supreme Court Bill.—It is said that the Supreme Court bill will probably be amended in the Senate by striking out the House provision of a two-thirds vote on a Constitutional question, and substituting in lieu thereof a list of laws, or specifying a class of laws to be exempted from adjudication by the court. This amendment will be based on the following clause of section two of article three of the Constitution, which applies directly to the appellate jurisdiction of the court. "In all the other cases before mentioned, the Supreme Court shall have appellate jurisdiction, both as to law and fact, with such exceptions and under such regulations as the Congress shall make." No one doubts that under this provision of the Constitution, Congress has the power to establish for the government of the court in its appellate jurisdiction as provided in the House bill.

Mysterious Affair.—A boy named Charles Gordon was found in the back hallway of Adams, Macdonald & Lyon, Chicago, yesterday, lying on the floor in a dying condition. Examination revealed a bullet wound just above the heart. How he received the fatal hurt is a mystery, but it looks like foul play.

The citizens of the United States are informed that in conjunction with my colleague I have made arrangements with the Japanese government by which the City of Jeddah, the Town of Negatun, on the western coast and the harbor of Eshamurra on the island of Sado will be opened to the free trade, pursuant to treaty stipulation on the first day of April next. Before The Footlights

"The Girl from Chili" delighted an audience which taxed the capacity of the house at the new Star theatre last evening.

"Much has been heard of this new play, and it proved to be all that was expected. It is brilliant in wit, the music is catchy and bright, the company is fully capable of portraying the many ludicrous and amusing scenes which the author has woven into a story full of plots and schemes.

"It is safe to predict a successful week for this laughable comedy, for there is not a dull moment in the play, while the specialties made a decided hit last night. Everyone in the large audience laughed during the entire performance, and they were still laughing when they fled out of the house.

GAID MACLEAN RELEASED

HE IS FINALLY SET FREE BY THE BANDIT RAISULI.

Arrives at Tangier After Seven Months in Bondage—England Will Pay $100,000.

Tangier, Feb. 7.—Child Sir Harry MacLean, commander of the sultan's bodyguard and next to the sultan the most influential man in Morocco, has arrived here under an escort from the bandit Raisuli, who has held him under bondage for the past seven months.

He was brought here in accordance with the agreement which the British government finally succeeded in making with Raisuli for his release, in return for which Great Britain will pay $100,000 to Raisuli and guarantee him protection and immunity from arrest.

The capture of Gaid MacLean was carefully planned. He went out to meet Raisuli alone in order to persuade the bandit chief to resume a peaceful mode of life. Later Raisuli sent a message to the sultan announcing the capture of the commander of his bodyguard and informing him majesty that he would hold the general a prisoner until terms that he submitted were granted. These terms included the payment of a large indemnity and his reappointment to the governorship of Tangier.

Subsequently the British government took the negotiations upon its shoulders, finally succeeding in bringing Raisuli to terms.

OHIO RIVER BOATS IN PERIL.

Danger in Gorges and Impending Break-Up of Ice.

Gallipolis, O., Feb. 7.—A general break-up of ice in the Ohio river is at hand. Recent rains have caused the rivers to rise rapidly. The Little and Great Kanawha rivers are running out and much damage has been done. One hundred and fifty rafts, containing several thousand logs, are coming down the Ohio river in the ice, along with a gasoline towboat owned by F. R. Huff. Should the runaway log strike the barges or steamboats, great damage will result.

At look No. 4, the ice is gorged 25 feet deep and the Steamer "Stella Moran," Vesta and Harry P. Jones are in great peril. Efforts to dynamite the gorges have been of no avail. It is estimated that $250,000 worth of floating property is in the harbor at the mouth of the Great Kanawha river.

Funeral of Col. Thomas G. Lawler, Rockford, Ill., Feb. 7.—Funeral services for Col. Thomas G. Lawler, past commander-in-chief of the G. A. R., were held Thursday afternoon, and were attended by a great throng. All business throughout the city was suspended during the services. Grand Army posts from northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin cities were present, as were many men prominent in public life. An address was delivered in the Centennial M. E. church by Dr. G. H. Vanhorn, past department chaplain, who was assisted by Rev. Frank W. Barium, Novius post, No. 1, of which Col. Lawler was commander, conducted the burial service at Cedar bluff, in the presence of thousands of people.

Blizzard in Upper Michigan. Marquette, Mich., Feb. 7.—With huge drifts blocking the tracks from the worst blizzard in several years, transportation in upper Michigan is paralyzed. Some trains are cancelled, others are hours late. The storm is raging with a fury rarely attained heretofore. Over a foot of snow has fallen here, two feet at Ishpeming and even more in the copper country. St. Ignace reports the worst gale in a decade and navigation across the strait is suspended.

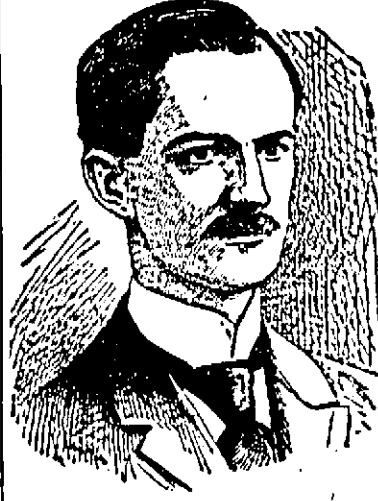

Dr. Carl Hulthorst Dies in Asylum. Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 7.—Dr. Carl Hulthorst, a former minister of the Presbyterian faith, who was expelled from the church on the ground that he preached heresies, died Thursday evening at the state hospital for the insane as a result of exposure and injuries sustained some hours earlier when he attempted to drown himself in a creek near the asylum. He voluntarily entered the asylum ten days ago.

Kidney Complaints.

Good, Honest Results.

Backache, Weak Back, Rheumatism, Diabetes, Bright's Disease, Gravel, Gout, Irritation of the bladder, Scalding Urine, Swelling of the Ankles, Dropsy, or some other form of Kidney or Urinary Trouble.

DeBell's Kidney Pills have a direct and specific action in all forms of Kidney, Bladder and Urinary trouble and it is the only remedy which gives the kidneys strength to cast off all poisonous matter from the blood, thus stopping the cause of disease of this nature.

Try DeBell's Kidney Pills. We claim they are par excellence—the most thorough, rapid and effective treatment ever prepared for the cure of kidney trouble and we say it because of the results obtained by their use. They speak for themselves; all we ask is to give them a chance to cure you, the one who suffers. Did you know that you will cure you and come again into your own happiness, good cheer, contentment, energy, ambition, hope, new life and perfect energy.

Henry Hood, Mineral Ridge, O., says: "I can say that DeBell's Kidney Pills is the best remedy that I ever used for rheumatism and kidney trouble. I have tried a good many kinds of medicine before I commenced using DeBell's Kidney Pills and I could hardly get up or down from a chair, but since I commenced using DeBell's Kidney Pills I can sleep better and don't have to get up so often in the night, and I am much better than I was before I commenced taking them."

Kidney diseases are generally found in persons whose blood is impure, faded or impure, and whose nerves have not sufficient power or force to make the kidneys perform their proper functions.

The duty of the kidneys is to filter the blood, and when this fluid is filled with uric acid and malarial poisons they become overburdened with extra work. When the nerves are not strong, they fail to supply the power to do this work; then the kidneys become clogged and disease sets in. Kidney complaints usually commence with cold chills, especially in the back and loins, followed with fever and pain. The pain extends to the bladder, loins and thighs. The urine becomes highly colored or extremely light. It sometimes looks red or blood-like, with a brick dust sediment after standing; or it may be stringy or milky and filled with albumen, the most vital element of the body.

When these conditions are allowed to continue they result in one or more of the following conditions:

BLOODY WORK "BY" ROBBER.

Police Officers and Others Shot in Woburn, Mass.

Woburn, Mass., Feb. 7.—Three highwaymen, heavily armed, appeared in Woburn and vicinity Thursday night and, after holding up two men, shot two police officers, one possibly fatally, shot and severely injured the driver of a police wagon, slightly injured a boy and fired at a barber who attempted to capture one of them.

The robbers first made their appearance in Burlington where they held up William P. Adams and William Essex. The Woburn police were notified and Officers Timothy E. Welsh and Edward T. O'Neill were sent out. The policemen discovered three suspects near the Congregational church in Woburn and when the men saw they were being followed they opened fire. Welsh was shot in the stomach and in the left side and O'Neill received a bullet in the calf of the leg. The other shootings followed soon after.

FOUND CANS LOST
HALF THE BUTTER

The Sharps Tubular Separator in the most durable, simplest and best cream separator on the market. It holds world's records for fast skimming, clean skimming, for endurance, for perfection in manufacture. It has saved its cost many times for the owners. The following letter gives one example:

Collinsville, Illinois.
Gentlemen:—The Tubular Separator I bought gives entire satisfaction, runs very easy and does its work to perfection. From five good Jersey cows, while using the water separator, we made from 23 to 27 pounds of butter a week, with one of your separators, from the same cows we made from 43 to 47 pounds a week. I think it would take about $100 to buy it if I couldn't get another.

ANNUAL BANQUET
OF THE K. OF C.

FOLLOWED BY A BALL AT ASSEMBLY HALL.

ENJOYED BY THREE HUNDRED

Miss Emily Murray, Reader, and Four Italian Musicians Provided the Post-prandial Program.

Members of Carroll Council No. 536, Knights of Columbus, and their ladies participated in the seventh annual banquet and ball of the order at Assembly hall last evening, and it proved one of the most brilliant and enjoyable social events of the season. The seven long rows of tables, overflowing with southern snail and various colored chrysanthemums, and decorated with ferns, vases of flowers, and red, white, or pink carnations at each plate, accommodated three hundred and fifty guests. Rev. Father James E. Harlin, pastor of St. Joseph's Catholic church at Edgerton, offered the blessing after the guests had taken their seats, shortly before eight o'clock.

The report was served in faultless style by twenty-five young ladies, garbed in white and wearing in almost military precision under the direction of Mrs. Louise Bowerman. Stimulating in all parts of the hall and without the least trace of confusion the following courses were laid upon the festal board:

Pickles Olives Celery
Escalloped Chicken
Cold Baked Ham Cold Turkey
Cream Potatoes Fruit Salad
Butter Rolls American Cheese
Fruit
Coffee
Ice Cream Assorted Cakes

Viands and delicacies had all been prepared in a kitchen calculated to please the most fastidious, and tiny American and Irish flags, floating serenely side by side on the "ramparts" of ice cream, provided one of the "effects" which produced unalloyed applause and laughter.

While the feasting was in progress and afterwards, the "Troubadours," an Italian instrumental quartette from Chicago, discoursed sweet music. This orchestra was composed of Prof. John Vercillo, first violin; John Braglia, second violin; Michael Braglia, harp; and Nicholas Braglia, flute, and played a delightful series of classical and modern concert and solo numbers, both for the post-prandial program and the ball which commenced at ten o'clock and lasted until two this morning. The musicians are needed in their engagements by Miss Emily Murray, a talented pianist who gave a number of highly diverting readings.

Several out-of-town guests from Milwaukee, Madison, Beloit, Edgerton, and Plattville, participated in the festivities and visitors and members of the lodge alike agreed that last evening's entertainment eclipsed all former efforts. The arrangements were in charge of W. H. Dougherty, D. W. Hayes, A. J. Wilson, W. T. Doolley, John Doran, Michael George, Dr. T. F. Kennedy, John Lyons, Daniel Ryan, Joseph Donohoe, and Harry Olson.

Carroll Council was organized August 4, 1904, and has a membership of nearly two hundred. The present officers are: Grand Knight, W. H. Dougherty; Deputy Grand Knight, D. W. Hayes; Financial Secretary, Harry Huggart; Treas., James Morris; Lecturer, D. W. Hayes; and Chaplain, Rev. E. M. McGinnity.

LITTLE CHANGE IN TOBACCO MARKET

Edgerton Reporter Says General Movement of Crops Has Not Begun.

Conditions in the local tobacco markets have not changed during the week. Everyone is waiting a general movement of the crop, which does not come, says the Edgerton Reporter. A few scattering sales are being made in nearly all sections. Buyers of the large operators are not riding and a general indifference is noted all along the line, even though tobacco can be purchased at reasonable figures. The impression seems to prevail that as long as the market for old goods continues so dormant there is little incentive to add to the holdings of new leaf. The few transactions reaching us since last report are:

W. Haskins, 6a at $2.25.
N. G. Nelson, 2a at 7.1c.
E. A. Nogh, 14a at 7.1c.
Geo. Seelye, 24a at 7c.
Chas. Sparks, 2a at 5.4c.
Ang. Sparks, 2a at 5.4c.
Chas. Spitzer, 14a at 5.2c.

A writing game is still being played in the cigar leaf market. With business moving up with uncertainty they feel they can afford to wait lower prices of leaf which packers are not yet willing to concede. C. O. O'Connell shipped two carloads of old goods that had been placed with a western jobber this week. The shipments out of storage reach 300 cases for the week to all points.

North-Western Road
The Chicago & Northwestern Railroad Co. has established a new procedure in the method pursued in "laying off" of employees. Instead of giving preference on point length of service etc., as heretofore, the men to go are those known to be in the habit of frequenting the saloons, evidence on this point being furnished by the company's detective force. The first application of this rule resulted in the circulation of a temperance pledge by the employees, which at last report, had been signed by 25,000. Every employee is asked to sign and when completed the monitor pledge will be presented to the president of the road.

SECOND APPEARANCE OF CLEVER COMEDY

"The Girl Over There" Appears at the Myers Opera-House in a Return Date.

Miss Mabel McCane made her second appearance in "The Girl Over There" at the Myers Opera-House last evening before a rather small but appreciative audience. The play tells of the love affair of an Arizona rancher's daughter, her misunderstandings with her husband and the final happy outcome. Several clever songs and some pretty girls furnished the lighter element of the comedy.

Miss McCane as the "Girl Over There" pleased her audience as well as Audin Cooper as "Captain Kingsley" and Allen Foster as "Audin Cooper from the Bowery." Audin Cooper will be remembered as appearing here once before this season in "Cohling Thru the Rye." The other members of the company capably supported Miss McCane. "The Girl Over There" made the biggest hit with her song "The Garden of Love's Desire."

CAREFULLY PLANS HER DEATH.

Mrs. Walton of San Francisco Kills Self in New York.

New York, Feb. 7.—"I should like you to feel that it is the surrender of a proud, strong soul."

In these words, penned to a friend Thursday, Mrs. Cleo A. Walton of San Francisco explained a suicide planned with gruesome deliberation.

Having paid her bill at the Hotel La Grange, selected a casket, arranged for the cremation of her body, and summoned the police, coroner and undertaker, the woman swallowed poison and was dead when those called to her apartments arrived. Mrs. Walton was the widow of a Mr. Walton, whom she married in Denver. She was 43 years of age and was born in Fayetteville, Tenn.

In a letter to "Whom it may concern," Mrs. Walton said:

"This is a case of suicide pure and simple, and no act of my life has been consummated with more free thought. I am impelled to this act by reasons that are good and sufficient to myself, and they could not possibly be understood or appreciated by anyone else. Any way, it's nobody's business but my own. Those who have not interested themselves in me in life need not do so in death. I am sorry that I cannot quit the game without annoyance to some. For all inconvenience I crave their indulgence."

IT IS A BUSINESS INSURANCE

Advertising Outlay is a Comparatively Low "Premium" on Business Assurance.

The Chicago Tribune recently treated advertising as a form of business insurance in the following entertaining paragraphs that follow:

"Have you ever considered an advertising campaign from the standpoint of an insurance policy?"

"You insure against such contingencies as fire, shipping disaster, dishonest employees, etc., as a matter of course, but the moment someone mentions advertising as a business-building or for your particular benefit you immediately begin to hedge and vow that you can not afford such an expensive luxury, etc., etc."

"Have you ever thought that the greatest of all commercial calculations—loss of trade—can be insured against?"

"The premium represented by the cost of advertising, is, in proportion to the importance of the security afforded, no higher than other insurances; in fact, it is considerably smaller and soon becomes a minus quantity. Any other kind of insurance is an expense; worse than that—it is a dead loss so long as there is no claim."

"But the insurance of trade represented by advertising carries a direct profit with it. It covers not only the risk of losing trade, but also the minor risk of being compelled by competition to carry on business at a diminishing proportion of profit."

"Thus the insurance premium, represented by your advertising outlay, are systematically recompensed by the current and simultaneous increase of profits."

"A considerable proportion of such 'premiums' could properly be treated as invested capital, since the good will and assured maintenance of demand is a tangible and salable asset."

"Think it over—you who have been accustomed to regard advertising as a mere blue sky and hot air. It's a thoroughly practicable business proposition and should be considered in no other light. Keep your advertising 'premium' and you won't have to die to win."

Age of the Legal Wig.

The use of wigs by judges and barristers is not very ancient. It was introduced, I imagine, toward the end of the seventeenth or at the beginning of the eighteenth century, when it had become the fashion at court. Bishops continued to use wigs longer than their clerics, but they have discarded them, to their great advantage, for many years now.—London Morning Post.

WEAK FROM SUFFERING
UNABLE TO PERFORM WORKDiscouraged After Spending Money Without Benefit—Found Help at Last.

Mr. Earl McCoy, living at 1506 So. Brauer Street, Marion, Ind., has passed through an experience that is being duplicated every day in every town and city of any consequence in the United States. It furnishes abundant proof of the correctness of L. T. Cooper's theory in regard to the degeneracy of the human stomach, and shows conclusively the merit possessed by his New Discovery medicine to restore the weakened system to full strength and vigor.

Mr. McCoy says: "For a long time I have been a sufferer from stomach trouble. I was unable to retain any food, and became so weak and run down that I was compelled to stop work. My system was nearly a wreck, and I had tried so many remedies and spent so much money without deriving any benefit, that I became discouraged and gave up hope of ever being well again. "I heard a great deal of Mr. Cooper's theory and medicine, and after much hesitation decided to try it. The result was a pleasant surprise. Before I had taken half of the first bottle I was able to retain all food eaten, and my strength began to return. I have taken six or seven bottles, and am feeling like a new man. I eat and sleep well, do not cough at night, and am able to perform a hard day's work. I can cheerfully recommend Cooper's New Discovery, for it has done wonders for me.

The Cooper remedies are meeting with remarkable success wherever they are introduced. They are without a rival in toning up a weakened and run-down system. We sell them, and have sold them, for many years.

"I?" he asked, "disturbed. 'What could I do?' " "Why, I suppose," she said slowly, "you'd have to marry me."

"Then," he rejoined, with a laugh, "I should think you'd be scared into prudence by the prospect."

"I am not frightened," she said gravely.

Gravely fell upon him too. In this young girl's eyes there was no evasion. For a long while he had felt vaguely that matters were not perfectly balanced between them. At moments even he had felt an indefinable uneasiness in her presence. The situation troubled him, too, and though he had known her from childhood and had long ago learned to discount her vagaries of informality, his common sense could not countenance this defiance of social usage, sure to involve even such a privileged girl as she in some unpleasantness.

"I'd be very glad to marry you—if you cared to," she said.

"Marion!"

"Oh—I—it is—of course it's a joke."

"No; I'm serious."

"But I—but you don't love—can't be in love with me?" he stammered.

"I am."

Gloved hands tightening on either end of her riding crop, she bent her knee against it, balancing there, looking straight at him.

"I meant to tell you so," she said, "if you didn't tell me first. So I was rather tired waiting. So I've told you."

"It is only a fancy," he said, scarcely knowing what he was saying.

"I don't think so, Stephen."

But he could not meet her candor, and he sat silent, miserable, staring at the papers on his desk.

After awhile she drew a deep, even breath and rose to her feet.

"I'm sorry," she said simply.

"Marion—I never dreamed that—"

"You should dream truer," she said.

There was a suspicion of mist in her clear eyes. She turned abruptly to the window and stood there for a few moments, looking down at her brougham waiting in front of the house. "It can't be helped, can it?" she said, turning suddenly.

He found no answer to her question.

"Goodbye," she said, walking to him, with outstretched hand. "It's all in a lifetime, Steve, and that's too short for a good clean friendship like ours to die in. I don't think I'd better come again. Look me up for a gallop when you're fit, and you might drop me a line to say how you're getting on. Is it all right, Stephen?"

"All right," he said hoarsely.

Their hands tightened in a crushing clasp.

Then she swung on her spurred heel and walked out, leaving him haggard, motionless.

Plank found him there an hour later fumbling among the papers and at first feared that he read in Plank's drawn and sullen face a premonition of the over-dreaded summons.

"Quarrier has telephoned asking for a conference at last," he said abruptly, sitting down beside Plank.

"Well," inquired Plank, "how do you interpret that—favorably?"

"I am inclined to think he is a bit uneasy," said Plank cautiously. "Harrington made a secret trip to Albany last week. It looks to me as though—"

"I mean for us personally," Plank said, "I do, but not in the manner you fear I may hope for it."

Quarrier said without emotion, "I repeat that it would be easy for you and me to merge our differences on a basis absolutely satisfactory to you and to me—and to Harrington."

"You are mistaken," said Plank, rising. "Good afternoon."

Quarrier rose too. "You decline to discuss the matter?" he asked.

"It has been discussed sufficiently."

"Then why did you come here?"

"To see for myself how afraid of me you really are," said Plank. "Now I know, and so do you, Mr. Quarrier, I want to tell you something. Never before in business differences has private indignation against any individual interfered or modified my course of action. It does now, but it does not dictate my policy toward you. I am perfectly aware of what I am doing, what social disaster I am inviting by this attitude toward you personally, what financial destruction I am courting in arousing the wrath of the Algonquin Trust company and of the powerful interests interlocked behind Intercontinental Electric. I know what the lobby is; I know what Judge cannot be counted on; I know my perils and my chances, every one, and I take them—every one. For it is a good fight, Mr. Quarrier. It will be talked of for years to come wonderfully, not because of my obstinacy, but because such monstrous immorality could ever have existed in this land of ours. Your name, Harrington's, mine, will have become utterly forgotten long, long before the horror of these present conditions shall cease to be remembered."

He stretched out one ponderous arm, pointing flat between Quarrier's unavailing eyes.

"Take your fighting chance—it is the cleanest thing you ever touched—and use it cleanly, or there'll be no mercy shown you when your time comes."

Let the courts alone. Do you hear me? Let the legislature alone. Keep your unclean hands off the crime. And tell Harrington to shove his own cold, spiny fingers into his own pocket for a change. They'll be warmer than his feet by this time next year."

For a moment he towered there—powerful, bulky, menacing—then his arm dropped heavily, the old stolid expression came back into his face, leaving it calm, hoarse, almost stupid again.

And he turned, moving slowly toward the door, holding his hat carefully in his gloved hand.

Stepping out of the elevator on the ground floor, he encountered Mortimer and halted instinctively. He had not seen Mortimer for weeks; neither had Lolla, and now he looked at him inquiringly, disturbed at his battered and bloodshot appearance.

"Oh," said Mortimer, "you down here?"

"Have you been out of town?" asked Plank cautiously.

Mortimer nodded and started to pass on toward the bronze cage of the elevator, but something seemed to occur to him suddenly. He checked his pace, turned and walked after Plank, joining him on the marble steps of the rotunda.

AUDIT SYSTEM IS EJECTED

PRESIDENT ORDERS IT OUSTED FROM PRINTING OFFICE.

First Result of the Investigation Done by Acting Public Printer Rossiter.

Washington, Feb. 7.—Concurring in the recommendation of acting Public Printer Rossiter, the president Thursday canceled the contract of the government with the Audit System and ordered its ejection from the government printing office at the end of six days.

The Audit System is the corporate name of the cost-ascertaining method which was installed more than a year ago by Public Printer Sillings. Under its operation the government has paid about $120,000 for the privilege of calculating the cost of government printing and binding.

Representative Landis of Indiana, chairman of the joint committee which is investigating the government printing office, says that the audit system as it has been installed and operated in Washington is a gold brick thinly plated with the genuine stuff. "We have paid for this brick," said Mr. Landis, "and before we throw it out we are going to extract and retain the medium of value it is gilded with. I mean that you can't run the government printing office, with all its departments and its 4,500 employees, without using some method of cost ascertainment. So if there are any good features in the audit system we are going to keep them, for we have paid for them many times over."

Mr. Landis is authority for the statement that the joint investigation committee proposes to take the lid entirely off and delve to the bottom of the many charges, some of them definite and distinct, others of a public rumor character, which eventuated Wednesday in the suspension by the president of Public Printer Sillings and his succession by W. S. Rossiter of the census bureau.

Mr. Rossiter has been directed by the president to make an impartial survey of conditions there and to recommend methods for reducing the office to a business basis. This task, an extremely arduous and complex one, he plunged into Thursday and his judgment was that in about three weeks he will be able to submit an intelligent report to the White House. He made a brief preliminary report recommending the discontinuance of the audit system.

Rattler Explanation.

The rattles of the rattlesnake like edgewise. It is evident that they must do so, inasmuch as they are but continuations of the backbone. The snake carries the rattles on the ground except when he raises them to sound his warning. This will be evidenced by the fact that in every snake of any size that is killed the rattles are worn through on the under side.

This figure shows the boundaries of the 12 Sky Spaces in which all Revelations are written. Revelations are Constant and Eternal but Man's perception is intermittent. Nevertheless this is God's Universe and He places the Planets as Suits His Purpose and has given us the ability to see them therein as informants of His Designs for our warning and instruction insuring the success and happiness of each and every human being who gives regard. The wise ones arrange their course in harmony with such instructions as are posted in the positions of moving planets in reference to these spaces, but the unfortunates rush forward into failure, difficulty and useless regret. So one chooses to be ignorant and to suffer, and those who keep them ignorant for purposes of gain, no other ignorance over yet having been discovered. Dealers in Liquor, Tobacco, Pulp, Card, Prostitution, Government, and Church-graft, must be shown up as the Unintentional Traitors they really are and the people must be taught the powers and privileges which they inalienably possess. We know the powers against which we labor, we have counted the cost, we perceive the ultimate success in happiness for all. We pay five per hour to all who can teach this World Old Science, and have places for everyone who lives and acts from Ideal Honor, and Duty to The General Good.
